

Information Evening for Specialty Training in Public Health

Are you interested in...

- Working to improve and protect the health of populations?
- Working to improve the quality and delivery of healthcare services?
- having a challenging, varied and rewarding career?

Then specialising in Public Health could be the right choice for you. The five year training programme is open to applicants with medical and non-medical backgrounds.

Come along to our informal information evening and meet some current Public Health Registrars and the Wessex Public Health Training Programme Director, Prof. Julie Parkes, to find out what it's all about.

Wednesday 16th October 2019

6.30 - 8.00pm

Southern House, Otterbourne, SO21 2RU

The session is open to everyone at any stage of their current career

To express your interest in attending, or for more information, please contact:

Rebecca Perrin: rebecca.perrin2@nhs.net
Specialty Registrar in Public Health

For further information on Specialty training in Public Health see:

www.fph.org.uk/training-careers/
www.wessexdeanery.nhs.uk/public\_health.aspx